

Prairie Dropseed

Iowa Native

(Sporobolus heterolepis)

Ornamental Grass

2' - 3' High

2' - 3' Spread

Medium Growth

Full Sun

Various Soils/Dry Soils

Prairie Dropseed offers mounding tufts of green on a soft, serene scene. In autumn, this clump-forming grass takes on warm tan colors. Tall flower spikes grow above the foliage in late summer. It is a low maintenance grass; simply cut back once a year. It has many uses: native gardens, meadows, rock gardens, and gives a formal look when planted in mass. It is also drought and clay tolerant. (Zones 4 - 8)
