

Pagoda Dogwood

(Cornus alternifolia)

Iowa Native

Ornamental Tree

15' - 25' High

20' - 30' Spread

Round Shape

Growth

Moderate

Partial to Full Sun

Water Needs

Moderate

Zone 3 - 7

The Pagoda Dogwood is an architectural beauty with distinct tiered branch layers that are most noticeable in late spring when white flower clusters rest on the upper portions of the stems. The photo above shows an unpruned tree, but they can be limbed-up to create a more defined tree shape. It produces dark blue fruits and has multi-colored fall color. Due to the small size, they fit nicely along decks or patios.